

Imagine being trapped in a life
where you are powerless.

This year, over 10 million men and women will face some form of domestic violence whether it be emotional, physical, or sexual. The damage from these heinous acts is irreversible and can lead to depression, PTSD, neurological damage, miscarriage for pregnant victims, and suicide.

Domestic violence is one of the most underreported crimes, with %70 of all cases going unreported by those close to the victim. If someone you know is being abused, do not leave them trapped. Call the NCADV hotline at 1-800-799-7233.

Free those who are suffering.

Have you ever
fallen silent out of fear, unable to call for help?

Every year, more than 10 million men and women nationwide have to cope with the reality of domestic violence. The kinds of violence experienced can range from physical to emotional and can have damaging effects on one's very being. Victims want to cry out for support, but refrain from doing so due to either their attachment to the abuser or out of fear for themselves or their loved ones. Do not ignore the warning signs. If you suspect someone you know of being abused, dial 1-800-799-7233 and speak out for them.

Be their voice.

What if you
became attached
to something harmful?

There are about 10 million reported cases of domestic violence in the US every year. Some instances of violence in the household include emotional and psychological abuse, physical abuse, and sexual abuse. Those subjected to these acts have been damaged, leading to depression, PTSD, and even suicide. In most cases, victims feel that they are unable to part ways with the one who hurts them, whether it may be out of fear or attachment. Do not leave them in a place where they can't escape. Call 1-800-799-7233 and we will give them the power to escape.

Show them the way out.
